Email; melbournemason AT hotmail.com (please use "Famous Australian Freemasons" as subject)

This list began as a short list of Famous Australian Freemasons in an edition of our Lodge Newsletter and has now grown to include over 200 notable and/or famous Australian Freemasons.

There are many lists readily available of famous Freemasons on the internet, but at the time this list was started, no extensive list dedicated to just Australians existed. Never keen to simply duplicate web content from other web sites on our site www.lodgedevotion.com I set out to compile a list concerned with only Australian members of "The Craft". My list is now widely used by others – please cite our web address when using our content.

This list has been compiled over years. For some time, references were not recorded, but as the list grew, it was realized it could become an authoritative and comprehensive record of Australian Freemasons. References are now being progressively added, but readers should note names have only been included when the source of the same was considered reliable. Unfortunately, not all of those named have reflected the greatest credit on our Craft, but the test for inclusion is reasonable proof of membership, not subjective opinion on their actions or the lives they led.

It is hard to organize such a list – where do you put a Governor General who won a Victoria Cross? An Archbishop with a Military Cross? An actor who was Grand Master and a State Politician, or a "military man" who was a doctor, humanitarian and community leader? We suggest if you are looking for something specific either peruse the list or hold the Ctrl key and press "F" to search it, or if you have a hardcopy version – use the index. I do not (knowingly!) duplicate names in the list with the exception of those under the first heading.

Some inclusions are not Australians – but such men have been added for their strong link and influence on Australia; early Governor Generals who were not Australian being a good example. Keep in mind this is a list of names, not a biography, I try to keep entries short but some details have been added for context and/or interest.

Note - If you reproduce all or part of this list, you MUST cite the source. Good manners and the Law aside, my internet research is being greatly slowed by Google searches returning my own list quoted but not cited on other sites, especially lodge web site. We do not add a name unless the person is deceased or agreed to be in the public eye as a Freemason.

A note on footnotes; Footnotes mention the Masonic Membership of the individual in conjunction to the specific item footnoted. All Footnoted material mentions their membership of Freemasonry.

A Note on punctuation and some.. other stuff.

Firstly, apologies from removing as many full stops from the list as possible, hence C.B.E becomes CBE, with footnotes and such, they were removed to the list more readable

Also, “masonic ranks” have generally not been added with the exception of Grand Masters, and even then, appellations have been omitted, again to make the list more readable.
